

2 FIREMEN ARE RETIRED; FIVE FACE DISMISSAL

Resignations of two members were accepted by the Gettysburg fire company at its February meeting held Wednesday night at the engine house; two candidates were proposed for membership and their names referred to an investigating committee; one new member was elected, one granted a year's leave of absence and two placed on the retired list.

The firemen voted to defer until the March meeting action on the dismissal from the fire company of five delinquent members who have not attended meetings or fires for three months or more. Vice President William G. Weaver, who presided, reported that the board of officers met February 2 to consider a list of 16 delinquents. The latter had been notified by registered mail to appear before the board. Weaver said five failed to report. They will have until the next meeting to present excuses or be dropped.

Elect New Member
Sebastian Hafer was elected a new member of the company. The names of John E. Kerrigan and Robert Hartman were referred to an investigating committee composed of Julius Swope, Andrew Florence and Donald Myers. The resignations of Maurice W. Shindler and Herbert McKendrick were accepted. Both said they were unable to attend fires. Harold Heiges was granted a year's leave of absence. He is living in Biglerville at present, it was reported. Emory Strausbaugh and Francis Stevens were placed on the retired list at their own requests. Both have served many years as active firemen.

James S. Shenk, co-chairman of the committee for the observance of the 87th anniversary of the Battle of Gettysburg, reported progress was being made on plans for the forthcoming affair. Vice President Weaver, also co-chairman, reported that the Second Army had promised troops and a band for the celebration. Richard Cole, parade committee chairman, said letters would be sent next week to other fire companies and organizations inviting their participation in the parade. Parade prizes have been increased this year to $1,400, he said.

Littlestown FIREMEN PLAN CARNIVAL; TO REMODEL HOME

The general committee for the 1950 carnival of the Alpha Fire company No. 1 was appointed at the February meeting of the organization held Tuesday evening in the fire hall. It consists of Charles W. Snyder, chairman; Harold Sparyer, Glenn Ohler, Dennis Wallick and Bernard Selby. The carnival will be held on the Littlestown playground August 7 to 12. A contract was signed Tuesday evening with the Russ Amusement company, York, the same company that presented the entertainment in 1949. The other carnival committees will be appointed at a future meeting.

Prior to the meeting, Burgess Herbert J. Motter swore in the following fire police for the year: Paul E. Hiltbrich, captain; Harold Sparyer, Charles W. Snyder, E. Paul Bigelow, Melvin Shildt, Everett Feiser, Robert Weaver, Kenneth Sparyer, Wayne Arnold, Bernard E. Dillman, Ivan D. Rickode and William A. Wierley. In accordance with a suggestion from Burgess Motter, that the fire police be equipped with flash lights throwing white and red beams, Henry E. Wiltman and Paul E. Altoff were appointed a committee to investigate, and if these flashlights are available, instructed to purchase 12.

Three New Members
The following candidates were elected to active membership: Harry Streiv, A. Gordon Coates, Edward Warner and William K. Lippy. Burgess Herbert J. Motter was elected to honorary membership. William Pfaff, Walter Myers and Ralph C. Unger were proposed for membership and Thomas Wilt, Robert L. Snyder and Kenneth Sparyer were appointed an investigating committee.

Bills were ordered paid amounting to $21.25. Receipts of the evening were $206.08. A number of "thank you" notes were read from members who were remembered by the company at Christmas.

Here And There

News Collected At Random

A new book by an Adams county author makes its bow to the public Friday. First copies of the book will be offered for sale here in Gettysburg, at the Bookmart.

The author is Leighton C. Taylor, for many years secretary to the late United States Senator Boies Penrose; attorney-at-law and student of democracy. Appropriately enough, the book is entitled "As I See It from Rampike Hill." The "hill" is the author's home and "workshop" at Bendersville.

As a long-time student of American ideals and democracy within the intent of the founding fathers, Mr. Taylor knows whereof he speaks in this series of 47 articles which appeared previously and separately in The Gettysburg Times over the past four years.

The author is not only well-qualified by background and experience to write on the wide variety of subjects that he covers in his book, but he performs a distinct and, in these times, much needed service to every American and to American democracy.

The view from Rampike hill is far-reaching and soul-searching. Few persons could have handled and written about his subjects as well as Mr. Taylor, and none could have done a better job. The book stands out in these days of many "isms" and threats of more "isms" like a beacon on the troubled seas on which the Ship of State and the American public are being tossed.

Deep-thinking Americans, those who love their country and all that it stands for, past and present, will welcome the opportunity to read and re-read this book and its evidence of clear thinking, recognition of the cardinal principles of the American Way of Life, and the dangers that encompass this way.

The book deals in a convincing way with such timely subjects as specialized medicine, capitalism, our educational system, public libraries, faith in government, the attacks on big business and American citizenship.

Americans will want to read Mr. Taylor's story of two great Americans, Washington and Lincoln; the story of Statuary hall, in the nation's capitol; the Horatio Alger story and its impact on American youth of the latter part of the past century, of the Battle Hymn of the Republic, and such less complex and more homely topics as the family wash day, the "Whistle of the Train" and "Your Dog and Mine."

The book and its articles are thought-provoking. They turn the pages of history back for a glimpse of that America of a less hectic period when the principles of our forebears were laid down and before the present trend away from the simple truths that made the nation great had got under way.

You will like this book and you will want every member of your family to read it and you will want your friends to have a copy. Not in many years has such a book been published, and The Gettysburg Times takes pleasure in recommending it highly.

ROA TO MEET

The regular meeting of the Adams county chapter of the Reserve Officers' association will be held Wednesday night, February 15, at 10 o'clock, Lt. Robert R. McCoy, secretary, announced today. The time for the meeting is a change from the regular hour, McCoy said. A nominating committee will be announced at the meeting.

BROTHER DIES

Charles Heiney, 48, died of a heart attack at his home in Split Rock, Pocomo, Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. Mr. Heiney is survived by his widow, five children and a brother, Joseph S. Heiney, 24 Baltimore street. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Heiney left Tuesday for Bethlehem and will remain there until the funeral Saturday.

JAILED FOR HEARING

Thomas A. Ryan, Pittsburgh, arrested on Center square Wednesday night by borough police on a disorderly conduct charge, was committed to the Adams county jail for a hearing tonight before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Alton Lynwood Townsend, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alton D. Townsend, Gettysburg R. 4, has received a promotion to sergeant in the U. S. Air Force. Sgt. Townsend is stationed in Japan.

MARTIN AND LIND ARE OPPOSED TO SOCIAL MEDICINE

Letters from U. S. Senator Edward Martin and Congressman James F. Lind expressing their opposition to socialized medicine were read Wednesday afternoon at the February meeting of the Woman's club of Gettysburg at the YWCA.

Mrs. Frank Kramer, corresponding secretary of the local organization, read the letters which were in reply to letters sent by the local organization to the congressman and senator.

The program opened with the singing of the national anthem and recitation of the pledge of allegiance to the flag. Mrs. Dunning Idle read the collect for club women.

Ernest Stover, a student at the Gettysburg Lutheran theological seminary, sang "Nobody Knows The Trouble I've Seen" and "Deep River." He was accompanied at the piano by Philip McGuire.

Mrs. Rice Speaks
Mrs. John S. Rice delivered a eulogy to Presidents Washington and Lincoln. A motion picture, "Why Young America Paints," and a display of finger painting were shown. Dr. Kenneth Smoke operated the projector for the movie. Arrangements for the arts part of the program were made by Mrs. C. H. Heldt, art chairman, and Mrs. Willis R. Doyle, fine arts chairman.

Decorations were in keeping with the Valentine period. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. S. Saby and Mrs. John Rice.

The March 8 meeting will be in charge of Mrs. W. C. Tyson, international relations chairman for the club. It was announced.

Hostesses included Mrs. D. L. Norman, chairman; Mrs. Earl Bowen, Mrs. Walter Doud, Mrs. Barton Foth, Mrs. T. D. Hay, Mrs. J. A. Holtzworth, Mrs. Ross Myers, Mrs. Wilbur Plank, Mrs. Bernard Redding and Mrs. Ernest Ziegler.

COURT OF HONOR HELD BY SCOUTS IN LITTLESTOWN

A Court of Honor, as part of Littlestown's program in Boy Scout Week, was held on Wednesday evening in the Littlestown high school auditorium in the presence of a large number of the parents and friends of both the Cubs and Boy Scouts of Troop No. 84. The stage was decorated with a camping scene. With Paul Snyder as bugler, the scouts and guests marched into the auditorium and stood at attention with salute to the flag as the bugler played "To the Colors." After the group singing of "America" under the direction of Robert DeGroff, a former first class scout, the invocation was given by the Rev. John C. Brumbach, pastor of Christ and St. Luke's Reformed churches.

The original plan called for Scoutmaster Alton Bowers to serve as presiding officer. Due to the illness of Mr. Bowers his place on the program was taken by Charles Ritter, troop committee chairman, who, at the beginning of the program, gave the address of welcome. Fred Shultz, Hanover, neighborhood commissioner, representing the Conewago district, also brought greetings.

Discuss Scout Oath

A quartet from St. John's Lutheran church composed of L. Robert Crouse, Albert Starnier, Edgar E. Yealy and Dale Starry sang "When You Were a Tulip" and "Down by the Old Mill Stream" after which Robert DeGroff led in group singing.

Governor Will Head Scout Crusade Here On Saturday

Over 5,000 Boy Scouts from 39 Pennsylvania Boy Scout Councils are expected to represent the state's 300,000 scouts and leaders in a Boy Scout Week Crusade ceremony in the Gettysburg National cemetery, headed by Governor James H. Duff, celebrating Lincoln's birthday Saturday morning at 11 o'clock.

State officials and national scout leaders will greet the 39 Council Boy Scouts here. Scouts will share in the ceremony with the second annual pilgrimage of the Keystone area council, Harrisburg, to "Strengthen the Arm of Liberty" by accepting the "light" from the "eternal peace light" and passing it on to the Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers throughout the commonwealth.

Campus Curfew Is Lifted For Coeds

Eighty coeds at Gettysburg college may date again, starting tonight.

The Women's Student Government association lifted a 7 p. m. curfew in force since Monday on the girl residents of Huber hall. The association imposed the curfew after $10 was reported missing from a room in the girls' dormitory. The association announced at the time the curfew would remain in effect until the missing money and the culprit turned up.

150 AT ANNUAL BANQUET; HEAR JUDGE SHEELY

"It is one of the tragedies of life that many people fail to realize that what they get out of life depends on the efforts and sacrifices of living," declared Judge W. C. Sheely Wednesday evening to approximately 150 fathers, sons and guests at the 22nd Fathers and Sons banquet of the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Biglerville. Robert Shafer, president of the Men's Union Bible class, presided as toastmaster.

"Our daily contacts," said Judge Sheely, "are worth nothing unless we are willing to put something into them. The gifts of God are free to all but they gain in goodness as we make use of them. God provides the means; we must make the most of them. The same can be said of the community and the nation. Peace could come with sufficient faith but lacking such faith we should do the next best thing to prevent war—aid with our money and efforts."

Judge Sheely pointed out that too many persons demand things without wanting to pay the price declaring that "something for nothing seems to constitute a trend."

Referring to the early days of Adams county he said, "The early settlers contributed much to the development of the county; they put something into the county as they received strength from their faith and religion. What we get out of life depends upon what we are willing to put into it."

Colonel Holman, of Carson Long Institute, New Bloomfield, said "Life begins when we first realize that to do anything worthwhile we must have that pure, white faith that makes you happy, that enables you to go all day without getting tired, that makes life a grand, sweet smile. With the right faith the good Christian does not possess a single ounce of fear. Life begins when you realize that if you play the game right you can't fail. Faith and the power of the good book have a strength greater than any army."

Devotional Period

Prior to the banquet a devotional period was conducted in the church auditorium. Prof. Charles Yost led (Please Turn to Page 7)

FARMERS WILL HOLD ANNUAL MEETING HERE

A revised constitution for the Adams County Agricultural Extension association will be presented for action by the members at the annual meeting of the farmer organization Friday evening at St. James Lutheran Sunday school auditorium here.

One part of the revision will provide for increasing the number of members of the executive board from 15 to 18 to provide for six women members on the board. The present board includes three women members.

Officials of the extension association noted that such a change will permit better representation by women throughout the county and will provide for a wider representation of the home economics side of extension. If the proposed revisions are accepted, sufficient women will be elected to fill the posts, thus requiring the election of eight directors at Friday night's meeting.

Plan Panel Discussions

At present, the terms of five directors expire each year. If the revised constitution is adopted six directors will be named each year. The directors whose terms expire at the meeting Friday are John Peters, Gardners R. D.; Q. D. Rebert, Littlestown R. D.; A. D. Knouse, Biglerville R. D.; Russel M. Spangler, Gettysburg R. 4, and Mrs. B. E. Benher, Fairfield R. D.

Friday night's program, which will start at 7 o'clock, should be of interest to farmers throughout the county, Harry E. Brown, Fairfield, president of the association, said today.

Activities in agriculture and home economics will be presented in the form of panel discussions with Miss Mary Jane Mickey, county home economics extension representative. (Please Turn to Page 2)

COLLEGE PLANS RELIGION-LIFE MEET NEXT WEEK

The annual "Religion-In-Life" program will be held at Gettysburg college next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, it was announced today. The sessions will be held on the theme, "Is Christianity Practical?"

Dr. Morris Wee, president of Carthage college, will be the principal speaker at the three-day session. A graduate of St. Olaf college and of Luther Theological seminary, he earned his doctorate at the University of Wisconsin. He was official delegate of the Evangelical Lutheran church at the Lutheran World Federation meeting in Lund, Sweden, in 1947, served on the planning commission for the World Youth Christian Conference in Oslo, Norway, in 1947, is former chairman of the executive committee of the United Student Christian council, is a member of the national commission on Church Student work and is national advisor of the Lutheran Student association.

He will begin his series of talks on Monday morning at 11 o'clock in Brua chapel on the theme, "Is Christianity Practical?" and will continue with talks on that theme on both Tuesday and Wednesday morning at the same hour in Brua chapel.

Movies and Discussions

Each afternoon at 4 p. m. movies will be shown at the SCA auditorium with the titles being "Americans All" and "For All People" on Monday and "Reaching for Heaven," Tuesday, Monday evening at 6:30 o'clock there will be a faculty dinner meeting at Christ Lutheran church and Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7:15 o'clock there will be group discussions in the fraternity houses.

Discussion leaders at the various fraternity houses will include: Phi Kappa Psi, the Rev. Edw. E. Korte, graduate of Gettysburg college and seminary, pastor for Lutheran students at Pennsylvania state college; Phi Gamma Delta, Walter E. Kirker, general secretary of the Harrisburg YMCA; Sigma Chi, the Rev. Howard W. Hinkeldey, graduate of Gettysburg college and seminary. (Please Turn to Page 2)

County Student To Sing Lead In Opera

When the "Opera Workshop" of the Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y., in its most ambitious undertaking directed by Leonard W. Treash, presents Debussy's opera "Pelleas and Melisande," next Monday and Tuesday in the Eastman theater, the role of King Arkel will be sung by Clifford Snyder, of York Springs. The opera will be sung in English for the first time by a student organization.

Snyder, an Eastman junior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Spencer Snyder, York Springs. He has appeared in other student operatic productions.

CONTESTS FOR 'BARBER SHOP' SINGERS APR. 14

Plans are being advanced in preparation for the Barber Shop Quartet harmony contest to be held Friday evening, April 14, at 8 o'clock, in the Arendtsville Memorial auditorium under the sponsorship of the Upper Adams County Lions club.

Application forms have been sent to 50 Lions clubs giving them the opportunity to sponsor a quartet in this contest. Members of the quartets do not have to be Lions. From the application received a committee will choose nine quartets to compete in the contest. Applications must be returned by Friday, February 24. Replies will be sent out by the Upper Adams County Lions club committee notifying clubs which submitted applications of their acceptance or rejection.

Each quartet will be asked to sing two numbers. Duplication of selections will be kept to a minimum. All quartets will sing unaccompanied. No professional singers or members of the National Barber Shop Quartet association will be allowed to compete in any group. All groups will be in costume.

A first prize of $40 will be presented to the winning quartet which will be selected by popular applause and three judges. Other prizes include: Second prize, $30; third prize, $20; fourth, fifth and sixth prizes, $10, and $5 each to the three remaining quartets for participation.

Serving as master of ceremonies for this contest will be Al Ross of Station WBAL in Baltimore.

Barber Shop Quartet harmony is gaining in popularity throughout the country, the Upper Adams Lions said. Through this contest they hope to stimulate Barber Shoppers in this area.

DISCIPLINE IS DISCUSSED AT PTA GATHERING

Children need homework and home discipline, parents were agreed Wednesday evening in a discussion held during the regular meeting of the Arendtsville Parent-Teachers association held in the Arendtsville grade school. Thomas E. Robertson, New Cumberland, personnel director for the Pennsylvania Motor Truck association, led the discussion on parent pupil relationships.

The discussion included such matters as what constitutes a good reason for absence from school, how much homework should be given to school children, and home discipline.

Robertson agreed heartily with the program on homework conducted by the Arendtsville school which starts homework in the third grade and increases the amount of homework each succeeding year. He held that possibly the children would benefit by having even more homework added, because of the habits of concentration and work that are developed.

Says Discipline Needed
Parents, Robertson pointed out, must "say what you mean and mean what you say" in dealing with children. If directions to children are not enforced they are worse than no directions at all, he claimed. Children must receive training, and parents have the best opportunity to give training in discipline, obedience. (Please Turn to Page 2)

FORTENBAUGH IS VICE PRESIDENT OF SESQUI GROUP

Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh, head of the history department at Gettysburg college and chairman of the historical committee for the Sesqui-Centennial celebration here this year, was elected vice president of the Sesqui association at a meeting of the organization in the court house Wednesday evening.

When other officers were chosen at the formation of the Sesqui organization, no vice president was selected. A set of by-laws for the Sesqui group, which recently incorporated, provided for a vice president and Dr. Fortenbaugh's election followed.

The association approved a proposal of the executive committee under which a historical pageant will be presented the evenings of August 30 and 31 and September 1 and 2 on the Gettysburg college athletic field. Distinguished speakers, athletic and music events, a huge Sesqui parade are to be arranged for August 31 and September 1 and 2.

Change Contest Deadline

The deadline for entries in the Sesqui seal design contest has been moved back from March 1 to March 15, it was announced with the explanation that school authorities felt March 1 did not give adequate time for completing the contest in the public and parochial schools of the county.

Dr. Harvey D. Hoover, special events chairman; Fred G. Pfeffer, chairman of the historical spectacle division, and John L. Millard, publicity division chairman, discussed tentative plans for their parts in the celebration of the 150th anniversary.

The Sesqui pageant will include a cast of 300 to 400 men, women and children from all parts of the county and will be directed and executed by representatives of the John B. Rogers company of Fostoria, Ohio. The Rogers company will provide the script for the pageant with the approval of a local committee and will furnish all of the costumes.

Approves Pageant Plans

ANNUAL REPORT ON TAXES FILED BY COLLECTOR

Gettysburg residents paid a total of $165,237.41 in taxes during 1949, the annual report of Tax Collector J. Herbert Weikert, filed with the county clerk of courts, discloses.

So far uncollected, according to the report is $6,732.91 in 1949 taxes. However much of that amount will be secured during the coming year, judging by the report on prior year's taxes collected during 1949. During the period $4,689.90 worth of prior year's taxes was collected.

The tax collector made a total of $272,131 from his work during the year, the report shows. The total cost of collecting the $165,237 was $5,104.57. Expenses of the tax collector's office totalled $2,383.26 including $1,019.96 in clerical help, $746.67 premium on bond, $360 rent, and other sums for office supplies, insurance, office equipment, advertising and similar expenses.

4,100 Taxpayers

Tax Collector Weikert listed a total of 4,100 taxpayers in the borough in his report, 1,500 property holders and 2,600 who are assessed for occupation tax.

A total of $171,970.32 in taxes was sought

FACT-FINDERS START REPORT

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—President Truman's fact-finding board ended its hearings on the coal dispute today and went to work on a report to the White House.

Once the President gets the report he can ask Attorney General McGrath to seek a court order for the 370,000 striking miners to go back to work.

The board cut off its hearings with an announcement by Chairman David L. Cole that the board's observations during fruitless, direct bargaining negotiations yesterday had given it needed information about the issues.

John L. Lewis, leader of the miners, and the coal operators talked issues for nearly eight hours yesterday under prodding from the board. But they couldn't get to an agreement.

The board is under instructions to report to Mr. Truman by Monday at the latest.

Cole said he thought the board-sponsored bargaining sessions would be helpful to the Union and the operators in eventually reaching a contract. "The general atmosphere is considerably cleared," he said.

Cole said that the board had "learned many interesting and cogent facts and circumstances about the dispute."

ence to orders and a proper recognition of the fact that all humans have demands upon them that must be fulfilled, he noted.

Nearly 30 attended the meeting, about 100 of the group being parents and the remainder children.

The meeting opened with a program by students of the fourth grade under direction of Mrs. Evelyn Price and Mrs. Madeline Ehlman. The youngsters presented playlets on Lincoln, Washington and St. Valentine and sang several numbers and gave recitations on the same subjects. Miss Doris Wanbaugh accompanied the singing at the piano.

Assembly Program
Following the program the children remained in the auditorium to view movies shown by Francis Coulson while the parents adjourned to the cafeteria for their discussion.

The program presented by the fourth grade children was part of an assembly program held Wednesday afternoon for all of the children of the school, Lewis Bosserman, principal of the school, revealed at the PTA meeting.

Sixty-six members of the fourth grade took part in the afternoon program which was one of a number held during the course of the year by the various classes, Bosserman said. He thanked those parents who have been attending the assembly programs and urged additional attendance by parents at the events which are held approximately every third week.

Through the assembly program all of the children are given an opportunity to participate in school activities and to display talents they may possess, Bosserman said.

SEEK BANDITS IN HOLDUP OF PHOENIX BANK

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 9 (AP)—Police, working with scanty information, stepped up their search today for two men who robbed the bank of Douglas and escaped with $116,250.

Every available law enforcement officer in the state, including agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, has been marshalled for the hunt before the trail becomes cold. They are seeking a man described as a light-skinned negro between the ages of 30 and 35, and a Spanish American, about 32. They carried out the robbery early yesterday.

The bandits forced the janitor to let them in the building about 6 a. m. and waited until the vault teller, James Wise, arrived about 7:30 a. m. He was forced at gun and knife point to open the vault.

Ignore Large Sums
The men took only bills in denominations of $100, $50, $20, $10 and $1. They ignored another $113,852 in bills of larger denominations and $45,000 in silver.

Police admitted they had only scanty information to work on.

The men waited calmly for the time lock on the vault to release and forced bank employees into a closet as they arrived. At one time, while the robbers were upstairs, an armed messenger from an armored car service entered the building to leave some communications, walked across the lobby, then left.

The pair stuffed the currency into a 50 pound lard can and walked calmly out of the building.

17-Year-Old Girl Marries Man, 79

Uniontown, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—The love he "sought so long" has come to Thomas Brownfield, rugged 79-year-old mountaineer, who has brought a 17-year-old bride to his 60-acre farm.

Brownfield and the girl, the former Ellen June Sprowl, were married January 30 in the English Baptist church at Froburg, Md. Ellen said that in her modest cabin in the nearby West Va. hills she had always longed for a "home of my own."

ARREST 5 WITH $37,150 IN BAG

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—Police grilled four men and a woman today on possession of a paper bag containing $37,150 in cash.

Whether there was any evidence linking the five with the $150,000 Brink's Inc. robbery in Boston, however, police refused to say.

The five, arrested in a parked car here early yesterday, insisted the money represented gambling proceeds.

Beyond that, they weren't talking, said Police Inspector Walter Wyrod. With the FBI taking part in the inquiry, authorities here were in contact with Boston and other eastern cities.

At the same time police were checking recent jewelry and fur robberies in the nation in an effort to determine if any loot had appeared here and been handled by a fence.

Brink's in Boston was robbed January 17 by nine men who escaped with $1,500,000. A day earlier holdup men took $48,000 from the Statler hotel in Boston.

Own Son Kills Father Of Twelve

Gary, Ind., Feb. 9 (AP)—A 65-year-old steelworker, the father of 12 children, was fatally shot in his home last night and police said his 29-year-old son admitted slaying him because "he was too old to live."

Police held the son, John Purevich, an unemployed millhand, for further questioning in the slaying of his father, Alex, as he sat in the living room of the Purevich south side home. No charge was placed against him immediately.

Detective Sgt. James Traeger said the younger Purevich told him of hearing stories of recent so-called mercy killings and said his father was "too old to live." Traeger said the elder Purevich's physician said he had been in excellent health and had worked yesterday at his job at the Gary works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company.

Where a bank in Denver is putting in left-handed checkbooks. They figure their southpaw depositors deserve just as much consideration as the right handers.

Time was when it was believed that left-handed people had no right to exist at all. If a youngster showed signs of using his left hand, his parents were supposed to break him of the habit—to force him to use his right.

But today most doctors will tell you that changing a child's natural left-handed tendency usually causes more harm than good.

Stammering and other nervous disorders often get their start that way with children.

From where I sit, if a man wants to use his left hand—that's his business. It's not such a good idea to make anyone do things our way, just because we think it's right. Personally, I think a mellow glass of beer is the finest beverage on earth. If you happen to prefer a Coke—why, go to it! Only leave me the same freedom of choice, won't you?

Bullets Set Scoring Record In Crushing Dickinson 95-66; Meet Penn State Here Friday Evening

In by far their best exhibition of the season and one of the best in several campaigns, the Gettysburg college basketball team swamped Dickinson here Wednesday evening 95-66 for their eighth win against seven defeats.

The 95-point attack set a new scoring mark for the local gymnasium. Back in 1946 the Bullets rolled up a 79-54 victory over LaSalle for their previous high mark.

Coach "Hen" Bream's entire squad, including starters and reserves, gave a dazzling performance of all-around work and marksmanship. The Bullets landed 43 goals on but 93 attempts.

O'Brien Shines
While each man in the starting lineup of Harris, Pure, O'Brien, Belber and Sachs reached a new pinnacle in season performance, the performance of Bob O'Brien was particularly noteworthy, his off-the-boards play being spectacular.

Bucky Harris landed 27 points to be high man for the evening, his 12 goals resulting on but 20 shots. Harry Pure came through with 18 with Hank Belber landing 14 on a number of long heaves. Ross Sachs accounted for seven points and held the high-scoring Wes Overholt to but one goal in the first half.

The Bullets started at a terrific pace, netting five goals on their first seven shots in the opening two minutes. There was never any question thereafter as to the supremacy of the Bream-men although the scrappy Red Devil team several times staged mild rallies but never seriously threatened the lead. At the first period Gettysburg led 25-17 and at half time the score stood 44-28.

Dickinson picked up a few points early in the third period but the closest they could come was 47-36. At the end of the third quarter the bullets were in front 63-46.

Freshmen Lose
With their fast break completely out-classing the invaders, the Bullets shot their margin to 78-48 in the first three minutes of the final period before Coach Bream made wholesale substitutions which resulted in the entire squad breaking into the lineup.

Johnny Yovickin's freshmen dropped the preliminary game 61-59 after a close battle the whole way. Stark's sensational shooting from all angles, good for 30 points, was outstanding and paved the way for the Dickinson victory.

On Friday the Bullet varsity tangles with Penn State on the college floor at 8 o'clock. There will be no preliminary game. If the Bullets can again display the form shown Wednesday night the Nittany Lions are destined for a surprise.

5 HIGH SCHOOL CAGE QUINTETS STILL UNBEATEN

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Only five class A schoolboy cage teams can boast perfect season season records today in Pennsylvania.

With only an average of five regularly-scheduled contests remaining in the 1950 campaign, the select group has dwindled to Bradford, Monessen, Oil City, Plymouth and Swoyerville.

Class B unbeaten quintets include Snow Shoe of the Centre-Clinton League (14); Schuylkill Haven of the South Schuylkill League (16) and Middletown of the Lower Susquehanna League (13).

The latest to drop from the ranks were Berlin and Farrell in Tuesday night's action—the most disastrous of the season for the unblemished kingpins.

Boswell dumped Berlin, 50-45, at the point where the Mountaineers needed only a win to tie for the district five title. The loss snapped a winning streak of 11 games.

But Farrell was even harder hit by its 55-44 reversal at the hands of Altoona. That ended a 17-game winning streak for the Steelers—co-favorites with Monessen for the class A flag of the WPIAL. However, the loss doesn't count in Farrell's league record.

Altoona's victory projected the Mountain Lions' tilt tomorrow night at Allentown into the state's top contest for the night. Altoona has a record of 13 wins and two losses and a victory streak of 11 in a row. Allentown has won 15 while dropping two and has an identical skein of wins.

Both are playing as independents without league connections and must win only 65 per cent of their games to compete in the PIAA playoffs next month. The Allentown Canaries copped the first clash between the two clubs, 40-34, more than a month ago.

Monessen Leads Pack
Monessen's victory streak of 25 in a row—19 of them coming this season—tops the class A records. The Greyhounds are out in front of the WPIAL's section 7. Tuesday night they repeated an earlier triumph with a 61-55 edging of Duquesne—only other clubs to top Altoona. Tomorrow night they travel to Brownsville.

Bradford's Owls have taken 13 games so far without a defeat and aim to repeat as district nine titlists. After a week's vacation, they get back into action against Erie Academy, runner-up in the Erie City League.

Oil City's high-powered combine resumes protection of a 12-game winning skein by journeying to potent Warren. The Oilers need this game to take section 2 of District 10.

Plymouth goes after its 58th straight Wyoming Valley League triumph tomorrow at Wilkes-Barre. Carl while Swoyerville puts a 15-game streak on the line against West Wyoming.

Johnstown, practically assured of the Tri-County League title after bumping second-place Westmont, 28-20, takes on Franklin Boro. Conemaugh also clinched the West Central League title by also knocking off its chief competition—Franklin Boro, 49-38.

McCosky Gets Okay For Baseball Season

Detroit, Feb. 9 (AP)—Barney McCosky, hard-luck outfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, got a go-ahead sign from doctors today for his plans to play baseball again this season.

McCosky recently underwent an operation to correct a back condition which caused him to miss the entire 1949 season.

"The doctors told me it would be okay to drive to spring training camp in Florida and I'll certainly be there on opening day," McCosky said.

It was a joyful day for McCosky. He has had a succession of bad breaks since he injured his back while playing against the Tigers in a night game at Briggs Stadium in June, 1948.

Sportsmen Plan To Hold Fair In June

At a recent meeting of the Blue Ridge Summit Sportsmen's Association, Inc., plans were made for a fair the organization will sponsor next June.

It was reported about 150 ring-neck pheasants are on hand and will be released in March. Kenneth Sites reported progress in making repairs and cleaning up the farm at Friends Creek.

A number of sportsmen from the Fairfield area are members of the association.

TO INVESTIGATE COLLAPSE OF BOXER IN RING

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission called a hearing today in the sudden collapse of Harold Johnson during last night's fight with Jersey Joe Walcott.

The 22-year-old Philadelphia Negro heavyweight dropped to the canvas in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder at the Arena—unable to continue because of a back injury.

Walcott, the Camden, N. J., Negro veteran who tried unsuccessfully three times to grab the world's heavyweight crown, was awarded a knockout victory.

John (Ox) DaGrosa, state athletic commissioner, said after examining Johnson in the ring and later at Presbyterian hospital he was convinced "the boy was in too much pain to go on fighting."

"I am sure that there was nothing irregular in the fight," DaGrosa said, "but just to be on the safe side, I'll talk it over with all concerned today." The purses of both fighters were held up pending results of the hearing.

DaGrosa said Walcott told him he believed Johnson twisted his back as he fell under a left hook in the second round.

When the bout came to its dramatic close, Johnson was battling the man who almost took the heavyweight title from Joe Louis in 1947 on very even terms. The 180-pound local puncher won the first round and lost the second when Walcott—17 pounds heavier—dropped him for a count of three.

Yesterday's Sports In Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Golf
Palm Beach, Fla.—Marlene and Alice Bauer won first round matches in the Palm Beach Women's Golf tournament.

Baseball
Dallas—Rogers Hornsby, one of baseball's great hitters, signed to manage Beaumont in the Texas league.

Football
Fayetteville, Ark.—Johnny Morris, who resigned as track coach at Southwestern Louisiana, was named track and assistant football coach at Arkansas.

Hempstead, N. Y.—Howard (Howdy) Myers, Jr., who resigned as football coach at Johns Hopkins, took a similar job with Hofstra college.

Track
Baltimore—Fred Wilt of New York AC tied a meet record as he won the National Invitation mile in 4:12.3.

Racing
Miami—Mr. A. B. ($4.50) won the Florida breeders stakes at Hialeah, beating Liberty Rab by a neck.

Arcadia, Calif.—Huon Kid ($12.00) won the Sierra Madra handicap at Santa Anita.

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—A jury's verdict against the city of Philadelphia for $862,140.11 has been set aside by Common Pleas Court.

The damage suit was brought by the borough and school district of Shenandoah, which charged the city with negligence in a mine cave-in in March, 1940. The city was brought into the case as trustee of the Stephen Girard estate, which owned the land.

F. And M. Matmen Whitewash Bullets 32-0; Riegel Halted; Johns Hopkins Here Saturday

Franklin and Marshall's powerful wrestling team dished out a 32-0 defeat to the Gettysburg college wrestlers before a capacity crowd at Lancaster Wednesday evening thereby halting a four-meet winning streak of the Bullets.

Russ Riegel, Gettysburg's hitherto undefeated 155-pounder, suffered the first reverse in his collegiate career and his first after 57 straight triumphs which includes his high school engagements, when Charles Cope gained a 6-1 decision after a rugged match.

Bud Diehl, 175, was handed his first setback this season when he was pinned by Russ Schilling in 5:25.

Other victories by falls were gained for F. and M. by Schell, 128; Snyder, 165, and Farrier, heavyweight.

The Diplomats, who had previously lost to Syracuse and Waynesburg, two of the east's outstanding mat powers, were definitely "up" for the match and won convincingly.

Freshmen Triumph
Coach Clyde Cole's very promising freshmen pulled a big surprise by winning the preliminary affair 25-11. The triumph was the first win for a Bullet team over the Diplomats.

In winning five of the eight bouts, the locals won all on falls. Victories were recorded in that manner by D. Woods, 121; D. Rabenstein, 128; Whittaker, 155; J. Spangler, 165, and Al Hershberger, 175.

The Coleman will attempt to swing back into their winning stride when a twin bill will be staged here Saturday evening with Johns Hopkins with the freshman meet starting at 7 o'clock.

The summaries:

121—Hartman, F. and M., decision 10-7.

128—Schell, F. and M., threw Andrews in 2:59.

136—Jopling, F. and M., won 8-2 decision over Woods.

145—Dougherty, F. and M., defeated Sassen 5-0.

155—Cope, F. and M., defeated Riegel, 6-1.

165—Snyder, F. and M., pinned Sault in 6:37.

175—Schilling, F. and M., tossed Diehl in 5:25.

Heavyweight—Farrier, F. and M., pinned Hershberger in 5:20.

Referee, Robert Black, Swarthmore.

Freshman Meet

121—Wood, Gettysburg, pinned Fredette in 5:46.

128—Rabenstein, Gettysburg, won over Zimmerman by default.

136—Kandel, F. and M., threw Smith in 3:48.

145—Bunn, F. and M., won 7-4 decision over Miller.

155—Whittaker, Gettysburg, threw Kline in 3:40.

165—Spangler, Gettysburg, tossed

Waken in 2:58.

175 — Hershberger, Gettysburg, threw Faber in 6:23.

Heavyweight—Beane, F. and M., won 5-0 decision over Trout.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—When they tossed a testimonial dinner for Bobby Siminonis in his home town of Girardville, Pa., recently, nine major league scouts were on hand.

They didn't officially "contact" him, of course, because Bobby won't graduate from high school until June. But he must know they're interested.

Siminonis, 18 years old, six feet three and 175 pounds, is a right-handed pitcher who was twice selected the outstanding American Legion pitcher in all-star games at Shibe Park last summer.

He's tops in high school, too, in athletics and scholastic work. You ask what's so unusual about that? Well, as a youngster Bobby suffered a bone injury in a leg and doctors told him he'd never be able to compete in sports. This is one time when grit and determination apparently will pay off with a big bonus.

THE MAXIM-UM EFFORT

Dan Magill, Jr., the U. of Georgia publicist, relays this one about Joey Maxim, who'll soon be bringing the world light-heavyweight title back to the U. S. . . . In 1943 Maxim was stationed at Pope Field, N. C., when Magill took the Cherry Point Marine boxing team there for a match.

Joey, too good for the regular contest, wanted to put on an exhibition and he promised to "hold back" when they put a good Toledo amateur named Harvey Brummett against him.

When they finally stepped into the ring, the Marines had won every bout. Maxim tore out at the bell and gave Brummett a shellacking for three rounds.

Then he apologized: "I'm sorry I went back on my word, but you Marines disgraced us tonight and I had to do something to save face for the Army."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

George Hummel Addresses Two Clubs: A joint meeting of the Rotary and Lions' clubs in the interest of boys' work will be held at the Hotel Gettysburg Monday evening. George H. Hummel, York Rotarian, will be the speaker for the occasion.

The two clubs are sponsoring classes in gymnastics for boys of the pre-high school age in Gettysburg as part of their program in boys' work.

Two Weddings Are Announced: Jacob L. Kuntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Kuntz, of Gardeners, and Miss Edith P. Bowers, daughter of Mrs. Elmer Murray, Goodyear, were married at the United Brethren parsonage, Mt. Tabor, by the Rev. A. C. Crone, Mr. Kuntz is employed in Carlisle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Heagy, of Steinwehr avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Helen, to George Middleton, of Laurel Springs, N. J. The marriage took place at Media.

Go to Florida: Elmer Haner, Bernard Golden, Charles Lawver and Robert Whiter left early Saturday morning on a motor trip to Florida. They expect to return in two weeks.

Benner Residence Here Is Purchased: Henry Garlach has purchased from the Gettysburg National bank, executor, the double frame house of the late William Benner, Chambersburg street. Possession will be given March 1. Mr. Garlach will occupy the home occupied by the late Mr. Benner, it is said.

Pastor Guest at Reception: Between 250 and 300 parishioners of Christ Lutheran church attended a reception in the social rooms Tuesday evening for the new pastor and his wife, the Rev. and Mrs. Dwight P. Putman. The Rev. Mr. Putman was installed as pastor of the church last Sunday and the next Sunday begins his active ministry here. Dean W. E. Tilberg presided.

Greetings were brought by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, Dr. John Aberly, the Rev. Edward H. Jones and L. L. Taylor.

Attend Classes While Father Is Inaugurated: Although they attended the regular classes at Gettysburg academy on Wednesday, Fernando and Guillermo Ortiz Rubio, sons of Pascual Ortiz Rubio, who was inaugurated that day as president of Mexico, said their thoughts were with their father on this important occasion of his life.

Escapes Assassination: (AP)—Two hours after he had been sworn in as president of Mexico, Pascual Ortiz Rubio was wounded in the jaw by one of six bullets fired by youthful assailant. One bullet grazed the face of Senora Ortiz Rubio, wife of the president. Two bystanders were wounded and a niece of the president was slightly injured.

Party in Gym: Members of the faculty of Gettysburg college and their wives attended a Friday evening party at the Eddie Plank gymnasium, Friday evening. The party was given as a welcome home for Dr. and Mrs. Frank Clutz, who returned home Thursday from a trip to Europe and as a farewell to Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Rosenstengel, who will leave for Europe February 14. Sixty-five professors and their wives attended.

The committee in charge of the party included Dr. and Mrs. R. S. Saby, Prof. and Mrs. L. J. Hauser, Dr. and Mrs. Albert Billheimer and Prof. and Mrs. B. H. Salter.

Local Elks to Initiate Class: The newly-organized degree team of Gettysburg lodge No. 1045, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will initiate several candidates at the regular meeting Monday evening, and Joseph E. Codori, exalted ruler, is urging a large turn-out of members.

Auto Show Closes: Gettysburg's sixth annual automobile show, which opened in the annex of the National garage, closed Saturday at midnight. Attendance this year has been con-

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
SMILES

In my father's library were several books with the author's name of Samuel Smiles. The name intrigued me and so I read every volume. They were books of inspiration, and perhaps they became the unconscious forerunners to these daily Talks!

Today I got to meditating upon people who smiled. A mother gets one of her great thrills as her baby first smiles. Smiles are great equalizers. They give a lift to life. They stimulate the spiritual and mental faculties. Healthy people smile most.

Going through my history books, however, and noting the pictures of the great and famous, there are few smiling faces. I have seen none showing a smile upon the face of Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Garfield, or Lincoln. I have three large books of the portraits of Lincoln, but none shows a smile. We know, however, that Lincoln was a great story teller and that he must have smiled and laughed, even at his own stories! How unfortunate that none of those smiles could have been preserved in pictures.

Our recent Presidents have been smiling men—the two Roosevelts, Taft and Truman. Even Coolidge broke into a vote-baiting smile at times! And Lincoln was known to read from the humorists of his day to help lift the weight of the burdens that he bore in affairs of state. Our newspaper comic strips were originally invented to create smiles, but they have wandered a long way from their early objective.

America, and the world, is poorer because of the absence of Will Rogers and dear Bob Benchley. With beloved Mark Twain, however, they still live in their published books, and will so long as people have eyes with which to read. Their words brought smiles, and we were, and are, the better for them.

A smile often hides a multitude of aches in the heart, as well as sorrows. No artist has depicted a smiling Jesus, though He must have smiled as He uttered: "Suffer the little children unto me for of such is the Kingdom of Heaven." The therapeutic power of the smile is well known to every physician. It's good to keep a good supply of smiles well at hand!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "How."

"Are you ever going to read us?" Say the books upon the shelves. "Time was we thought you'd need us. But you've left us to ourselves."

"Not the slightest care you show us. Here unheeded now we dwell, Put if you should come to know us, We have stirring tales to tell."

"You were happy to receive us, Said you'd always hold us dear, But unnoticed now you leave us, Just as though we were not here."

And I answer: "Books, I need you! To your shelves some day I'll climb, Blow the dust from you and read you, If I ever find the time."

GASOLINE TAX REFUNDS FOR FARMERS LOW

Harrisburg, Feb. 8 (AP)—Refunds of gasoline taxes to Gettysburg farmers are falling far below estimates, the state Board of Finance and Revenue said today.

To date, some 6,608 petitions for refunds under a 1949 law have been granted, totalling only $90,868 in claims paid.

"At this rate," said a board spokesman, "the refunds at the end of the first year will be far short of the legislature's estimate of a possible $1,500,000 to be repaid annually."

The board, under an act of the 1949 General Assembly, is authorized to return half of the state's five-cent gasoline tax collected from non-licensed farm machinery used in producing food.

Tabulated Quarterly
The board said that although Pennsylvania has about 178,000 farmers, all are not engaged exclusively in the production of food. In addition, many claims were held up because of attempts to regain taxes paid on jeeps, trucks, autos and similar vehicles.

Requests for the refund are tabulated quarterly and payments made on that basis. The first quarter under the law ended last Oct. 15, and the second on Jan. 15.

"All claims were verified thoroughly, although there were numerous complications slowing down the process," the spokesman said.

Complications Arose
"Filing claims on gasoline used in tractors and other strictly farm machinery was an easy matter," he said. "Complications arose in other types of power machinery."

He cited electric units using gasoline fuel to furnish power for barns, chicken incubators and farmhouses. "In these cases, the exact percentage of gasoline fuel in occupational pursuits must be found. Gas, helping to keep lights going in the house, for instance, cannot be counted."

The board said it has publicized the refund process throughout the commonwealth to make farmers aware of their chances of collecting.

New Oxford

New Oxford—Mrs. Robert Perry, Hanover, formerly Miss Anna R. Reinecker, near here, has been chosen for a part in the forthcoming play to be given by a class of the Abbottstown Lutheran Sunday school.

Mrs. Conway J. Dettenburn has been discharged after several days spent at the Hanover hospital where she was taken by ambulance after being ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Linus J. Bevenour.

Mrs. John E. C. Miller entertained the local Garden club during the week at her home. Her co-hostess was Mrs. Lynn W. Grove.

Mrs. Sara W. Yoh, teacher of the Red Hill schoolhouse in this area, reports that these pupils attained a perfect attendance record for the past month: Glenn Alwine, Elton Beaver, Jay Payne, Larry Shadle, Ray Shank, Barbara Jane Aldridge, Evelyn Bream, Pearl Gunnet, Marilyn Miller, Agnes Noel, Gene Bowser, Robert Myers, Donald Wagner, Catherine Noel, Linda Sholl, Lois Warnick, Elwood Miller, Welby O. Snyder, Jr., Edwin Starner, Jean Hippensteel, Shirley Shadle and Mary Jane Yingling.

Mrs. Ryland Staub entertained a group of friends and relatives recently at a "paper party" at her home. Her daughters, Barbara and Nancy, assisted in entertaining the guests who included Mrs. John P. Smith and daughter Joan Marie, Mrs. Howard Ecker, Mrs. Charles Rinehart, Jr., Mrs. Kathryn W. Donohue and Mrs. Leo Ecker.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker, formerly of the Abbottstown area, are now living on R. 2.

Albert Carbaugh has returned home from the Hanover hospital where he submitted to an operation recently.

Mrs. Harry Stock entertained the Mite society of St. Paul's Reformed church at her home during the week.

Harvey G. Bollinger, who has operated a shoe store at the square for more than a year, is discontinuing his shoe business and has been conducting his "going out of business sale" assisted by William H. Mannix. Several months ago, Mr. Bollinger purchased a 5-and-10 business at Biglerville.

Mrs. Jennie Feiser was hostess during the week at her home when members of the First Lutheran church council conducted a meeting in charge of its president, Mrs. E. C. Livingston.

The Rev. Robert D. Hartnett, pastor of the Immaculate Conception Catholic church, was among the 13 priests who participated in the solemn closing of the recent Forty Hours Devotions conducted in the chapel of St. Joseph's Academy, McSherrytown.

A daughter, Linda Sue, was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey C. Merchant, who are now making their home in Lebanon. Mrs. Merchant is the former Anna Catherine Alwine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy E. Alwine, near town.

LACK OF SNOW SAVING MONEY FOR TAXPAYERS

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—Thanks to a kind weatherman, taxpayers may save a lot of money in highway snow removal costs this winter.

Continuation of the comparatively mild winter now being enjoyed by Pennsylvania motorists could shave the state's snow clearance bill by $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

"Every dollar saved from snow removal means another dollar that can be expended on construction of new highways," said Ray F. Smock, State Highway secretary.

The highways department allocates about $7,000,000 a year to the job of plowing snow or cinderling ice on the commonwealth's 41,000-mile road system. But last year the bill was only $5,371,000 because of a mild winter.

Huge Bill for Snow
A statewide snowfall of any consequence, said Smock, costs the state about $12,000 an hour in clearance costs.

The huge bill is run up by the use of 1,500 plow trucks, 300 snowplows, 200 tractors and 4,000 maintenance men, plus thousands of tons of cinders and similar non-skid material.

The cost is also increased by the erection of 26,000,000 feet of snow fence to preclude drifting conditions on the open highways.

In the current winter season, the department estimated it spent about $1,617,000 in snow removal up to January 1. Since temperatures in January often hit the 70-degree mark, there were only few occasions that plow and cinder crews were called out over the state last month.

Most of the snow clearance work is done in the mountainous sections of central and northern Pennsylvania where road blocking drifts are most likely to occur.

Hollywood, Feb. 9 (AP)—A swelling uproar against the international love affair of Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini—which an Alabama ministerial group charges "tends to glorify adultery"—stormed at the gates of Hollywood today.

time. Mrs. Hutson has not been well this winter because of an arthritic condition with which she has been troubled for some years.

SUFFERS BURNS TRYING TO SAVE TWO BOARDERS

Brockville, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—An elderly landlady was seriously burned last night in vain efforts to save two aged women boarders from death in her farm home.

Victims of the tragedy at the David N. Wiley farm, five miles south of here, were Mrs. Nora Bankson, 82, of nearby Port Barnett, and Mrs. Janet Smith, 86, of Aliquippa.

Mrs. Wiley, 72, was burned badly when she tried to fight her way to the second floor to save the women. She said she was reading to her invalid 89-year old husband on the first floor when she smelled smoke.

Rescued Husband
The kitchen was in flames. Mrs. Wiley called to the women upstairs. Then, she half-dragged her husband outside. In the meantime, Lena Corbin, 39-year old maid in the home, fled safely.

Mrs. Wiley re-entered the home and tried to fight her way up the flaming stairs. She was burned about the head and shoulders before being driven out.

Mrs. Wiley estimated the loss at

BOOK REVEALS U.S. PONDERED AIRLIFT HALT

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

General Lucius D. Clay, former military governor of the American zone in Germany, discloses in his book "Decision in Germany" (Doubleday) that there was a time during the Russian blockade of Berlin when serious consideration was given in Washington to withdrawal in face of the Soviet pressure.

My colleague, Wes Gallagher, chief of bureau for the AP in Berlin and one of the best informed observers I know, in commenting on this revelation points out that "western resistance to the Soviet blockade of Berlin turned out to be one of the chief victories in the east-west cold war." Of the book as a whole Gallagher gives this expert opinion:

"The general's account of his four years as deputy and then military governor of Germany is a behind-the-scenes picture of four years of international negotiation. It is by far the most authoritative book on postwar Germany yet published, if for no other reason than that the general was a participant in virtually every vital decision taken from 1945 to June, 1949."

Winant Helped Blockade

General Clay withholds a lot which we wish he might have revealed, but this isn't surprising in view of the fact that he was dealing with matters which still are top-drawer secrets. However, he gives us such meaty bits as these:

The late John Winant, America's wartime ambassador to Britain, participated in the four-power negotiations, and he was the one who opposed demanding specific legal guarantees of access to Berlin from Russia. He thought such demands would make the Muscovites suspicious. This failure gave the Russians their opportunity to impose the Berlin blockade.

General Clay records that Ambassador Lewis Douglas resigned in 1945 as a top figure in military government because he believed the American directive for handling Germany was virtually unworkable. Clay holds that the directive failed "to grasp the realities of financial and economic conditions which confronted us."

France Opposed Moves

Clay's account of negotiations with Russia leaves one with the impression that there would have been a break between east and west no matter what the west tried to do. He expresses the view, however, that perhaps the crisis wouldn't have left Germany divided if the French hadn't consistently opposed creation of four-power agencies in 1945 and 1946 as provided by the Potsdam conference. The general says France opposed practically every American move towards getting Germany back on its feet either as a political entity or economically.

"The best part of the book," says Wes Gallagher, "perhaps is that dealing with the Soviet blockade of Berlin, although it is comparatively short. Clay says little of his part in ordering and carrying through the airlift, nor does he claim credit for the Berlin stand, although it has long been known he was the chief author of the policy Berlin must be held at all costs."

At one point early in the blockade Clay thought he detected apprehension on the part of the Secretary of the Army Royal that a firm stand in Berlin might lead to war. At that time the general stated:

Clay Stands Firm

"I do not believe this means war. I please understand we are not carrying a chip on our shoulders and will shoot only for self-protection. I do not believe we will have to do so."

A little later Royal said he would like Clay's views again, although there was no change in the Army's view that America should stay in Berlin. Here was General Clay's reply:

"We have lost Czechoslovakia. Norway is threatened. We retreat from Berlin. When Berlin falls, western Germany will be next. If we mean to hold Europe against communism, we must not budge. We can take humiliation and pressure short of war in Berlin without losing face. If we withdraw, our position in Europe is threatened."

"If America does not understand this now, does not know that the issue is cast, then it never will, and communism will run rampant."

Littlestown

Littlestown—Plans for serving two banquets and a wedding reception were discussed on Tuesday evening at the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid society of Redeemer's Reformed church held in the church social hall in charge of the president, Mrs. John LeGore. On February 17, they will serve the 44th annual banquet for the Masons of Littlestown, Silver Run and Union Mills and their ladies; on February 18, they will serve a wedding reception and on February 20 they will serve a banquet for the Men's Chorus of Taneytown. The kitchen supply committee, composed of Mrs. A. C. Garland, Mrs. Charles Hofe and Mrs. H. M. Badders, was delegated to purchase table clothes and additional silverware. The editing committee, consisting of Mrs. R. M. Phreaner and Mrs. Brenda Walker, reported that they had found the

Hard Coal Talks Are Being Resumed

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—Negotiations for a hard coal contract, now in their tenth week, resume today.

No specific progress has yet been reported, both the anthracite operators and the representatives of the United Mine Workers said yesterday.

During the session, Thomas Kennedy, union vice president, left for Washington where bituminous operators and UMW representatives broke off negotiations again early this morning without result. Kennedy made no comment before he left.

Anthracite miners are working a three-day week during negotiations. They seek a 95 cents daily increase in the present average daily pay of $12.50 and a doubled employer contribution to union welfare funds—now 20 cents for each ton of coal mined.

accounts of the treasurer to be correct. Mrs. Brenda Walker and Mrs. H. M. Badders were in charge of the program of the evening. Opening devotions included the apostle's creed and group singing with Miss Phyllis Higginbotham serving as pianist. Mrs. Charles Hofe read Psalm 138 and prayer was offered by Mrs. Ralph Reaver. Miss Higginbotham rendered two piano solos, "Aragonaire" and "Dream Waltz."

Mrs. Ruth Sneeringer presented a reading, "Famous Men of February." The program closed with the singing of "Best Be the Tie that Binds." A guest package, donated by Mrs. Agnes Crabbs, was received by Mrs. Wilbur A. Bankert. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, March 7, at the church with Mrs. Granville Jacoby as hostess and Mrs. Frank E. Reynolds in charge of the program.

Mrs. H. R. Gold, Williamsport, arrived Wednesday for a visit with her father, Dr. M. C. Coyer, and her brother and sister-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Donald B. Coover, West King street.

The annual fourth quarterly conference of Centenary Methodist church was conducted in the church on Tuesday evening by the Rev. Dr. W. E. Watkins, superintendent of the Harrisburg district. Reports for 10 months of the church year were read by the pastor, the church school, the trustees, the Women's Society of Christian Service and the church treasurers. Highlights in the report of the pastor, the Rev. Harvey B. Simmons were: Eight new members received in the church, 12 new members enrolled in the Sunday school, $370 paid on the organ and property indebtedness by the church and $275 paid by the Women's Society of Christian Service for parsonage improvements. The pastor announced that there will be an ingathering of funds before April 1, by which it is hoped to pay all current bills in full for the year.

New officials elected to the church board were Russell Matland, Ralph Grushon and Mrs. Wilbur Barton. The pastor stated that the future program of the local church includes a continuation of the Methodist Church Advance, the assimilation of new members into places of leadership; an increase in the enrollment and attendance of the Sunday school; an effort to re-instate members and continued payment on property indebtedness as well as to make further property improvements. Dr. Watkins presented the plan of National Visitation Evangelism Week which is being participated in by the Methodist churches of conference during the week of March 12 to 19.

Mrs. Robert Mehling, Lumber street, was hostess to the February meeting of the Mite Society of St. Paul's Lutheran church on Tuesday evening. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Mahlon Bucher. Mrs. Emma Norwood, president, was in charge of the business and Mrs. Paul Scheivert presented the secretary's report. Readings were given by Mrs. John Fesser, Mrs. Mahlon Bucher, Mrs. Minnie DeGroot and Mrs. Paul Scheivert. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, March 7, at the home of Mrs. Minnie DeGroot, Lumber street.

REPUBLICANS PLAN SHOWDOWN ON CIVIL RIGHTS

By JACK BELL

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—Prodded from within their own ranks, Republican leaders laid plans today to force a Senate showdown on civil rights bills.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy committee, told a reporter that if the Democrats don't move to bring up a Fair Employment Practices commission (FEPC) bill within two weeks "Republicans will press for it."

Taft's statement came after Senators Lodge (R-Mass.) and Ives (R-N.Y.) said in separate interviews they will demand action by their party to bolster what both have labelled as a weak-kneed endorsement of civil rights bills in this week's GOP policy declaration.

Filibuster Certain

"We will get a chance to vote on this question and I'm hoping that the Republicans will show they are for action, not just talk, about civil rights," Ives said.

The question probably will come before the Senate on a motion to take up the FEPC bill, which would ban job discrimination on grounds of race or religion. Any move to take up FEPC is certain to touch off a filibuster by southern Democrats.

The quickest way to break this filibuster would be for at least 64 Senators to vote to curb debate. Otherwise, the score of Dixie opponents could keep the Senate tied up until the filibusters were themselves out.

Democratic lieutenants said their checks indicate they probably can rally only from 55 to 60 votes for the debate curb. If they get as many as 60, they may order continuous Senate sessions in an effort to break a talkathon.

But the Democrats want to get action on a House-approved displaced persons bill before they plunge into the civil rights matter. That could delay the civil rights showdown until next month. There is a gentleman's agreement not to take up controversial bills in the Senate for a while because so many members of both parties had scheduled Lincoln Day and Jefferson-Jackson Day speeches.

Says Austrians Are Afraid Of Future

Chambersburg, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—Despite the outward appearance of prosperity in Austria, the people of that country are "afraid of the future," a State Department official said today.

In an address for the Wilson college contemporary affairs convocation, Mrs. Eleanor Lansing Dulles said:

"Austria has in 1950 the appearance of prosperity and has profited brilliantly from the Marshall Plan, but every Austrian is afraid of the future. There is no doubt that U. S. strength seems to them their main protection from aggression from the East, internal strife and war."

Mrs. Dulles is advisor for the office of German and Austrian affairs, U. S. State Department.

Shroyer Supports Duff For Senate

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—John U. Shroyer, who was fired as Secretary of Highways by former Governor Edward Martin, pledged his support today to Gov. James H. Duff in his campaign for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator.

"I honestly believe that Governor Duff stands for the same things I stand for," Shroyer said in a statement in which he attacked as "reactionary" the faction in the party led by former U. S. Senator Joseph R. Grundy and G. Mason Owlett, Republican national committeeman.

"When I was serving as Secretary of Highways," Shroyer, Shamokin dress manufacturer, said in a state-

NEW TECHNIQUE ON 'BLUE BABIES'

Philadelphia, Feb. 9 (AP)—The success of a new technique for operating on "blue babies" is reflected today in the smile of four-year-old Donna Faye Jackson, of Lebanon, Pa.

St. Christopher hospital for children revealed the new technique yesterday. Dr. Robert P. Glover, specialist in heart surgery, operated on Donna Faye Monday. In disclosing the new technique, Dr. Glover said "Donna's condition is improved and her color is a healthy pink."

Dr. Glover and his associates used a modification of a procedure used in other types of heart ailments. The surgeons went directly into the heart and cut out a muscular band near the pulmonary artery that was obstructing the flow of blood into the lungs. Failure of the blood to flow into the lungs satisfactorily causes the blue coloration that gives the ailment its name.

In the old technique, Dr. Glover said, the surgeon does not open the heart. Instead, he attaches a blood vessel to by-pass the obstruction.

Donna Faye still has a "long, rocky road" to travel before complete recovery, Dr. Glover said, and only when final results are observed will the success of the new procedure be fully established.

Carey Murder Case About Ready For Jury

Norristown, Pa., Feb. 9 (AP)—The murder trial of Ollie M. Carey may reach the jury today.

Carey, 49-year old Philadelphia negro accused of the slaying of Patrolman Thomas J. Matthews, of Abington township, last June 29, was to return to the stand in his own defense as the trial resumed this morning.

Yesterday Carey told of a robbery interrupted by Matthews and a fellow policeman, naming as his accomplice a "Jimmy Bryant." Throughout his testimony, Carey insisted he was innocent in the slaying of Matthews.

Bryant's name was interjected into the trial a few hours before Carey

Chapter 23

Zachary went pale under his tan. Even some of the others whitened a little at the thought of what that would mean. Indian justice would be stern and utterly without mercy. To be turned over to the Indians, both as a peace-offering and to them to deal with, was the one thing which he had not taken into consideration.

Desperation surged in Zachary. Anything was preferable to that. Bart Sharkey was standing behind him, and he had taken the precaution to pull a gun. But if Sharkey killed him now, the Indians could not. Not that he was minded to die.

Zachary kicked backward like a mule with one foot, without warning. His foot caught the Texan on the ankle and twisted him around, and then Zachary was plunging for the door, jerking at his gun. One man got in the way and Zachary shot him and hurried on.

He was out, and he reached a horse and jumped into the saddle, kicking it to a gallop while he leaned low along its neck and swept the reins up.

Valise presently reined his own galloping horse down to a trot, and noticed that de Polo was doing the same. They, along with most of the others in town, had joined the chase, but luck had been with Zachary this time, and he had gotten away unscathed, had outdistanced all of them.

"They say the devil protects his own," de Polo said morosely. "Looks like it."

"What'll he do now?" de Polo wondered aloud. "He can't show his face among white men again."

"He'll know where to find the Wazzazi, and he'll be heading straight for White Bear—to get there first, with his story."

"And once he tells it, they'll be sure to go on the war path," de Polo agreed. "Reckon you're right. It's the only thing he can do now."

"Looks to me like we might as well keep on ridin' for a while, and see if something turns up," he suggested. "No profit in going back now."

"Suits me," Valise agreed. "We'll head for the hills, eh?"

"That's about where we'll find them," de Polo agreed.

It was getting too dark to see much, but sound carried far, and they heard something ahead—the hoof-strokes of several horses, and with them, noises which told clearly that these were white men who rode here, not red.

Then a voice came, cautious but irritable.

"Me! I'm hungry. And I don't reckon there'll be no risk, cookin' a bit down in a gully here. Indians don't never get set for trouble till along about daylight, nowadays."

Valise expelled his breath in relief. That was Bart Sharkey's voice. The next one surprised him, however.

"Just as you say, Bart. I guess it doesn't matter."

That was Wanda Daniels. And the mention of food reminded Valise that it was a long time since he had eaten.

The identified themselves, riding forward. The others were glad to see them, but they had little to report.

In the reflected fire-glow, Valise could see that Wanda's face was pale and drawn.

"Isn't there something that can be done—before it's too late? Do you think he's with them—now?"

"Probably," Valise agreed. "There's nowhere else for him to go."

"If there was just some way to stop him, before he goes this way past—he can never draw back, after that."

Understanding came to Valise. It was startling, and the last thing that he had expected. It was Zachary that she was talking about, thinking of, not in relation to his effect on the rest of the community, but for himself.

"You liked him?" he asked.

Wanda nodded. Her face was screwed up like that of a small child about to cry, and she made no effort to hide from him the misery in her eyes. The wild-riding, devil-may-care girl of the 64 seemed far removed now.

"I loved him," she admitted, speaking as in the past tense. "It might as well tell you—though nobody else has ever guessed it. And I don't want them to."

"But you offered me a partnership in your ranch, to work against him," he said.

Wanda shook her head.

"Not to work against him, particularly," she denied. "I had two reasons. One was to keep from going broke. I figure that if I made a go of it, it might interest him, since the thing that always has interested him most is success and money."

"But my main reason was to keep you in the country, on account of Saralee. I didn't think that she'd marry him if you were still around. It was all a gamble, and I knew all along that I was a fool."

She was more composed when the meal was ended, and there was nothing to indicate that she had ever been upset by such fears. But she found time for another word with him.

"I don't know what can be done—maybe nothing," she said. "But if something is—and I hope it can be—then the Indians will turn against him, too, of course. And—much as he deserves it—I hate to think what they will do to him."

Valise nodded. A sort of plan had been forming in his mind for the last hour. That it was both vague and desperate did not make much difference.

"I'm a fool, of course," Wanda whispered. "But if things get bad—oh, if he could die, quick and clean, that would be all right—but this other—"

"Oh, I've no right to ask anything of you—after the way he's treated you," she said. "Be careful—please!"

And then, though she said no more, the appeal was still there in her eyes, a luminous and shining thing which the dark could not hide.

Chapter 24

It was agreed that Sharkey and the others should head back for town, since if it came to a defense, the best stand could be made there. But Valise added, quietly enough, that he thought he'd scout around a little longer by himself.

"I'm coming with you," de Polo said.

It was too dark now to see his face, but Valise had the feeling that the gambler had the same wild scheme in mind as himself. Well, he could think of no man he'd rather have beside him, at such a time as this. De Polo would be even better fitted than he himself for the job at hand, since he spoke Wazzazi so fluently.

If they were both thinking the same thing, it was a real gamble, and who better to take part in it? After all, there was everything to gain, and nothing to lose—nothing save life itself. He found Wanda beside him, for just a moment; her handclasp was strong and firm.

"Good luck," she said. "And never doubt that Saralee loves you as much as ever she did!"

They watched the others move out of sight, swallowed by the night, then turned once more to the north. There was no gleam of star or sheen of moon. The air was cooler, almost chilly. De Polo observed dourly that a storm was on its way.

"Be a big one, too, when it hits," he said. "It's long overdue. Rain down here, snow up in the mountains."

They pushed on for a while, but a vast peace held the night, like a calm before the storm. They had been straining their ears for a sound, and none reached them. De Polo pulled up impatiently.

"We'd better get a few hours sleep," he suggested. "The horses need it—so do we. We can do better work then. And dawn's a long way off."

Dawn would be the critical hour,

Valise knew. They must find their quarry and try something by then, or not at all. But he was ready enough to rest. He had had no sleep at all the night before, and it was the sensible thing to do.

The aroma of coffee awoke him. Nothing had changed during their few hours of sleep. The night was still black, chill and silent. It was that all-pervading silence which worried both men increasingly now, though neither of them mentioned it.

It seemed as though luck had turned against them. Somewhere back in here, though the sound was lost behind the hills, war drums must have begun throbbing before the sun went down. That sound, growing in intensity, would last throughout the night. If they could find where the braves were making medicine, there would be a chance to take the next step.

"They have to be back in here somewhere," de Polo broke the silence, irritation in his voice. "There's nowhere else for them to be."

This was a strange homecoming, not at all as he had dreamed of it. True, he had finally been vindicated, and the Gun would be his—if they could check Zachary in this last mad gamble for power. But even the Gun was a little thing now.

He had dreamed of peace, and here, somewhere in these hills, war was being brewed. A deadly witch's brew.

Now they were well back in the hills, which were getting higher, mile by mile. Deep canyons rent the earth; the slopes of the mountains were blanketed by evergreens. The lack of any moon or stars was hampering, for here there were no landmarks visible, nothing to guide them save their knowledge of the country in general.

The night was breathlessly still, not even a whisper of wind stirring. Sound would travel far on such a night—and it was approaching close to dawn. Valise had a wild feeling that this was futile. Yet he must find the camp. Saralee might be there. His mouth twisted bitterly at the thought.

"What's that?" de Polo asked suddenly. "Hear it?"

Valise had caught the sound at almost the same moment—remote, hard to place, little louder than a heart-beat, but unmistakably the throbbing of drums.

"There's a long way off," he said. De Polo grunted.

"At least we've something to go on now," he said.

They pushed their tired horses ahead, and for a while the sound was like a will-o'-the-wisp, now coming clearly, then dying away to a whisper. Hills and canyons could mute or twist the noise of it, as they both knew. Twice they had to turn, when it seemed to die out entirely, to try a new course before it came steadily. But finally it came clear and unmistakable, and the direction was plain.

"Not more'n another mile ahead," de Polo ventured.

"About that, likely," Valise agreed.

They said nothing more, but rode with increased caution. This, back in here, was new country to both of them, and wild. Now other sounds could be heard above the steady cadence of the war drums—the wild yells of dancing warriors.

That could mean only one thing. There was a big encampment ahead of them—hundreds of warriors, from the sound. Which must mean that the smokes had been seen, and that the main body of the Sioux passing through the country, had responded and joined with the Wazzazi.

Chapter 25

Far Runner had told the truth, then. And here was doom for the country for a hundred miles around, if once this wave erupted redly across it. The settlers could have dealt with the Wazzazi. But such a war partly as this would be too much for their combined resources, and no outside help could reach them in time.

Judging by the sounds, the chiefs must already have concluded their council, have voted for war. Now the big dance which usually preceded war was in progress, and it would continue until the dawn—a wild orgy in which every brave and would-be warrior would take part.

By daylight, everyone in it would have worked himself up to the proper pitch of savagery. Then they would strike out, swooping in bands across the country, attacking the ranches and any lone stragglers they might find, burning, pillaging.

That would go on for a day or so, and by then they would have ravished the country, have closed in around Lundeen's. Finding it occupied by a bigger force than usual, and defended, they would probably take their time. But with Zachary to urge them on and pressing them to make a clean sweep the town would not be able to hold out for long against the overwhelming force which they could hurl against it.

Now they could look down and see the gleam of big bonfires with dancing figures around them, looking, Valise reflected, like a picture out of the lower regions. This was a big canyon, well hidden back here in the mountains. And in it was a big camp, one of the biggest that he had ever seen. No doubt of that remained now.

If not all the main tribe had joined them, certainly a good portion of it was here.

It was unlikely that much of a watch was being kept. As they pushed closer, not bothering to dismount, Valise's anxious gaze swept around. Little could be seen, save in the glow of the big fires, but that showed row on row of lodges beyond the fires. The women and the children were here, too, since they would be considered perfectly safe while the warriors raided.

Now they could see the faces of the dancers, clearly, visages hideously bedaubed with paint in various colors and designs. Most of the men were in war-paint already. The women, and some of the children, were keeping in the background, while sharing in the excitement, helping to feed the fires, taking some part.

There was no sign of captives, but that was only to be expected. If "That's White Bear beside him," de Polo commented. "I know him, a little. Let's see if we can get close enough to hear what they're saying."

Valise followed him willingly enough to where words were distinguishable. White Bear, he noted, was a tall, grave-faced man who had the look of a chief. He and Zachary seemed to be arguing about something.

"What's it about?" Valise whispered.

"He's telling the chief that he was aimin' to marry Saralee yesterday, and that he wants to take her for his squaw now, before they start out on the raid," de Polo interrupted. "That means they've picked her up, all right. White Bear don't like the idea, but Zachary's insistin'."

Rage and disgust filled Valise.

"The chief's agreeing," de Polo added. "He says she can decide for herself. If she's willing, all right. They'll bring her out here."

"And what if she isn't willing?" Valise asked though he knew the answer pretty well.

De Polo shrugged.

"Might be up to us," he said. "If she refuses, considerin' the temper that Zachary's in, to say nothing of the rest of them—she'll be runnin' a big risk. Which," he added, "if I know her, is just what she'll do!"

(To be continued)

U. S. popcorn production averaged a 247 million pounds in the six years big risk. Which," he added, "if I ending 1949."

What Makes a Woman Smart?

Actually two kinds of women know how to dress—one has a natural "flair" for clothes, knowing instinctively what suits her figure and personality—the other type of woman has an acquired "chic" study, rather than instinct tells her what she can wear. Each lead up to four fundamental facts of being, and feeling, well dressed. First, her clothes must fit well; second, the fabric must be well woven, to hold the lines of the garment; third, her accessories must be chosen to form the total effect; and fourth, her underthings form the basic foundation.

Treasurer Reports

The annual report of the treasurer was given by Miss Evans which showed the Easter sale last year netted the organization $716. Expenditures totaled $1,033 and included sums for milk, ankle braces, physicians' and hospital bills, crib blankets and quilts, transportation to Elizabethtown hospital for crippled youngsters, medicines, crutches, orthopedic shoes, $60 for a walker, the cost of an audiometer, $150 to send a county boy to a state summer camp and a sum for braces.

The election of officers and directors followed presentation of the report of the nominating committee by Mr. Eberhart.

Miss Mildred Eden reported that a new case has come under the care of the society, a one-year-old boy who will be taken to Elizabethtown hospital later this year for examination and treatment. She reported that special braces and shoes have been made it possible for another crippled boy to attend school.

General plans for the 1950 sale from March 9 to April 9 were reviewed.

LEGION PLANS FUND CAMPAIGN IN EMMITSBURG

Tuesday evening the Francis X. Elder American Legion post of Emmitsburg met at the post home with 85 members present. Commander Edgar Ashbaugh presided.

It was announced that a "big party" will be held Friday, February 19 and each member is to pay $1 admission. The proceeds will be equally divided between the Infantile Paralysis fund, Heart fund and the Cancer fund.

Four new members, Edward Ohler, Edward Sheehan, Gerard Mandy and Morris Koontz, were voted into the American Legion.

Donation boxes for the Heart fund, sponsored by the American Legion of the community, have been placed in various stores, clubs and other business establishments in Emmitsburg. Everett Chrimer, chairman of the local Heart fund, announced Mr. Chrimer was appointed by Commander Ashbaugh.

Emmitsburg American Legion basketball team, coached by Harold Hoke, played Fairfield this week and won by a score of 74 to 61, reports at the meeting disclosed.

Auxiliary Meets

The American Legion Auxiliary met on Tuesday night with Mrs. Laura Rosensteel presiding.

Mrs. Rosensteel read the District president's message to the 20 members present. The group agreed to donate $5 to the Heart fund and $2.50 to the March of Dimes. Mrs. Dorothy Late was appointed as Child Welfare chairman. Mrs. Mary Cinegram was made chairman of the Community fund.

At Boonsboro, Md., on Sunday, February 19, at 1 p. m., the Western Maryland district will meet and it was announced that anyone wishing to attend should notify Mrs. Laura Rosensteel before Wednesday, February 15.

Ole Ohler's name was drawn for the door prize but she was absent. Next month the drawing will be $1.00. Refreshments were served following the meeting.

The Emmitsburg high school and Thurmont high school basketball teams met at Emmitsburg on Wednesday. The boys of Thurmont were the victors with a score of 33-50 and the Thurmont girls' team was defeated by the Emmitsburg lasses, 52-34.

Church Women Organize

The Community Fund will hold its monthly meeting on Friday night, February 10th at 8 o'clock in the Firemen's Hall.

A group of women from the Protestant churches of Emmitsburg met at the home of Miss Grace Rowe Wednesday evening and organized a Council of Church Women. The officers elected were as follows: President, Miss Grace Rowe; first vice president, Mrs.

Lewis Bell; second vice president, Mrs. Raymond Baumgardner; secretary, Mrs. Thomas Frailey; treasurer, Mrs. Lewis Higbee. The churches represented by the women include Trinity Methodist, Presbyterian, Reformed, Toms Creek Methodist and the Lutheran church.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gillelan and Mrs. Gillelan's mother, Mrs. Carrie Fior, East Main street, spent Sunday in Washington, D. C. where they visited with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Grush of Baltimore, visited recently at the home of Mrs. Grush's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Regis Miller and with Mrs. Gelwicks. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rice and son, of Ft. Loudon, Pa. spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Rice's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis K. Matthews, West Main street.

Over The Tea Cups met on Monday at the home of Mrs. Harry Boyle, East Main street, with the following present: Mrs. C. G. Frailey, Mrs. A. L. Leary, Mrs. George Thompson, Mrs. Frank Butler, Mrs. John O'Donoghue, Mrs. J. W. Houser, Miss Rhoda Gillelan and Miss Ann Codori.

Mrs. Regis Miller and Mrs. Wine Gelwicks spent Sunday in Baltimore where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ireland. Mr. Ireland is a patient at Saint Joseph's hospital in Baltimore.

Mrs. Laura Rosensteel and children, Pauline and Gertrude; Mr. Emmanuel Kump, Mrs. Charles B. Harner and children, Mildred and Roger recently visited Miss Anna Foster of Rileyville, Va.

Raymond Weant, Emmitsburg R. D. quietly celebrated his birthday Tuesday at his home near Emmitsburg.

wide application.

That opinion was expressed by State Sen. George B. Stevenson (R-Clinton), chairman of the General Assembly's local government commission.

"The ruling does not have universal application and must be decided by the appellate courts if it is to affect all 47 third class cities," said Stevenson.

Judge Walter I. Anderson of York county threw out as unconstitutional a section of the 1945 retirement law which would give third class city employees a substantial pension even if they are fired before 20 years of service.

Aviation Expert Says Russians Are Ahead Of U.S. In Production Of Planes

USSR ALSO HAS MORE MILITARY PLANES IN USE

By JAMES J. STREIBIG
Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—An American aviation expert said today Russia is ahead of the United States both in aircraft production and in the number of military planes it has in service.

However, said John F. Victory, executive secretary of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics (NACA), this country isn't disturbed by that situation because it feels that it has the better planes.

"We think we still have supremacy in the air," he said, "because of the superior performance and military effectiveness of our aircraft."

Victory said in a prepared speech that neither the United States nor Russia has a practical military plane for super-sonic speed. U. S. planes can go faster than sound now only when unarmed, he said, adding: "We see ourselves in the position of a runner in a race who knows he is being hard pressed."

Victory, first employee of the NACA when it was founded in 1915 as the nation's chief agency for basic air research, addressed the Comopolitan club.

"The struggle for the survival of civilization is now underway in the research laboratories of our land," he said. "There the outcome of our present campaign to hold Communism in check and prevent another world war is being decided."

He said the atomic bomb "is solely an offensive weapon—of no value without a means of delivering it to its target."

"So," he added, "air power becomes the key to the problem of preserving our own security as well as preserving world peace."

Sees Ghost Towns In Coal Regions

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—A number of Pennsylvania's coal regions communities will turn into ghost towns unless the coal industry regains lost markets.

That prediction was made in Congress Wednesday by Rep. Van Zandt (R-Pa.).

In the last 10 months, he said, the soft coal industry lost about 10,000,000 tons in sales as a result of competing fuels. The value of those lost sales, he added, was about $257,000,000 or enough to provide jobs for 67,632 miners.

In addition, he said, 84,722 railroad jobs were lost because of conversions to oil and natural gas, the resultant reduction in coal tonnages carried by railroads.

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—The $9,000,000 eastern Pennsylvania Psychiatric Institute at Philadelphia today has the top priority of the general state authority. The new institute, with facilities for 250 adults and 50 children, will serve as a research center to probe the causes and treatment of mental illnesses.

DP AND DOLLY—Vera Chreptowsky, 30 months old, carries her doll in her knapsack as she arrives at a New York pier with her parents, displaced persons from the Ukraine.

Capture Gunman And Girl After Chase

Golden, Colo., Feb. 9 (AP)—A young gunman who had "holed up" for the winter by stocking a mountain cabin with machine guns, food, check writing equipment and a milk cow, was held Monday for two kidnappings and three auto thefts.

He identified himself as Andrew Cecil McCauley, 23, and boasted to Sheriff Carl Enlow that he is wanted in 12 states for $250,000 worth of bad checks.

Arrested with McCauley after a five-hour chase over icy mountain roads was pistol-toting Barbara Jean Carroll, 28, of Houston, Tex. A tip to Undersheriff Oscar Kitterman that McCauley had taken a case of whiskey to the cabin started a chain of events Saturday night and early yesterday that led to their capture.

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—There's another big dividend on World War II veterans' life insurance coming up next year. It won't be nearly as large as the $2,800,000,000 payment now being distributed, but it will run into millions. The Veterans Administration has informed Congress it plans to pay about 65 per cent of the new special dividend in the first six months of 1951, and the rest before the end of that year.

BETTER ZONING NEED OF MANY MODERN CITIES

BY ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

Washington, Feb. 8 (AP)—Many American cities—perhaps your town is one of them—would be more prosperous and livable if their zoning regulations were up to date.

So say city planning experts who made a study of the zoning problem for the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Zoning pointers by these experts are contained in a 44-page booklet just issued by the Chamber.

Zoning regulations desirable some years ago are now sadly out of date, the experts say, largely because of great changes in the commercial and residential setups of many cities during the past 20 to 30 years.

Factory Problem
Early zoning ordinances set apart long stretches of a city's main streets for business use only. Now many business enterprises have moved to outlying locations, and the old commercial zone is in the wrong location for merchandising and transportation.

Numerous manufacturing concerns have abandoned the multi-story factory for the one-floor production line. As a result more land is needed for the factory and for off-street parking and loading.

The city planners point out that when this land is not available under zoning regulations, industry moves out. Result: the community loses in tax revenues and in its ability to provide employment for its citizens.

A long-time trend to smaller families, together with higher costs of living and construction, have caused many families to seek smaller and cheaper rental housing. The effect on zoning requirements has been a demand for garden apartments with more open space, properly located with relation to elevator apartments and single family dwellings.

Another tough zoning problem in many cities is parking in the central districts. The experts suggest as approaches to this problem:

1. More intensive use of existing parking space and of public transportation.

2. Encouragement of the commercial parking industry.

3. Cooperative efforts by groups of business men and property owners to establish more parking facilities.

4. Formation of municipal parking agencies with power to assemble land and negotiate for construction and operation of parking facilities.

5. Direct municipal action financed by parking meter receipts, revenue bonds, benefit district assessments and from general funds of the city.

Humming birds almost invariably lay two eggs in one nest.

Bonneauville

Bonneauville—The NCCW of St. Joseph's parish held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening in the parish hall. Mrs. Evelyn Christner, the president, presided. Routine business was disposed of and various reports presented.

After adjournment refreshments were served and bingo was played. Thirty-eight members attended.

Maurice and Terrence Golden, of Cazenovia, N. Y., visited their aunt, the Misses Mary Theresa and Anna Golden, over the week-end.

Robert Christner, a student at Penn State Forestry school, is spending the mid-semester vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gebhart.

Linwood Keene, of Turner, Maine, is spending some time with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Staub.

Brucite is a mineral used in manufacturing fire-brick.

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The Navy has developed a hard-hitting new aircraft rocket for air-to-air combat.

The Department of Defense announced yesterday that the weapon—dubbed the "Mighty Mouse"—has been successfully test-fired over the California desert. A Navy officer described it as the first successful U.S. air-to-air rocket.

'GOLD DUST' NINE COSTS $545,000

New York, Feb. 9 (AP)—It would cost $545,000 to field baseball's "gold dust" team, composed of the nine highest-priced stars on the diamond today.

An outfield of Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio and Ralph Kiner alone would draw more than some entire major league teams will receive this year. The estimated figure—$230,000—is unparalleled for any three men in the sport.

The lineup for these diamond nuggets, with approximate salaries, would be:

First base, Tommy Henrich, Yankees, $45,000.

Second base, Jackie Robinson, Dodgers, $35,000.

Third base, George Kell, Tigers, $35,000.

Shortstop, Lou Boudreau, Indians, $65,000.

Outfield, Ted Williams, Red Sox, $125,000.

Outfield, Joe DiMaggio, Yankees, $100,000.

Outfield, Ralph Kiner, Pirates, $65,000.

Catcher, Birdie Tebbets, Red Sox, $25,000.

Pitcher, Hal Newhouser, Tigers, $50,000.

Total, $545,000.

The Third Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

What Has Gone Before

Today's ad is the third in a series telling about times the anti-trust lawyers made serious and damaging charges against A&P that the courts decided were not true.

In the first ad in this series we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, and other good American citizens, conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington.

These charges were false.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But that was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

In our second ad we told you about the time in Wilson, North Carolina, they charged A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, with conspiring to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Here again, as in the Washington bread case, the charges were false.

This was the time Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So here were two cases in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P, in which the judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

Today, we want to tell you about the third time—this time in Dallas, Texas—the court decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

Is it a crime to give people more good food for their money?

For 90 years A&P has devoted all its energies to this end.

For many months now the anti-trust lawyers from Washington have been giving stories to the newspapers, making speeches and talking over the radio about this company.

They have been making serious and damaging allegations about the methods that enable A&P to give its customers better food values.

We have already told you about other times the anti-trust lawyers made charges against us that were proved utterly false in court.

In the left-hand column on this page you can read what the federal judges had to say about those two cases.

Now we are going to tell you about the third time a federal judge decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

The Dallas Anti-Trust Suit

In 1942 the anti-trust lawyers went out to Dallas, Texas, 1,400 miles from the homes of most of the defendants, and instigated criminal charges against A&P.

About this case one thing was sure.

Their previous experience did not deter the anti-trust lawyers from making more inflammatory and damaging allegations, just as they had done before.

They made practically the same allegations they are making today.

Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that the case should not even be tried. He said that the indictment contained inflammatory statements that he would not permit to be presented to a jury.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If I thought I was presiding over a court and that I might have to sentence some person because he was a great big fellow, or because he was a Lilliputian, I would feel like resigning. God knows we don't want it ever to occur in America that the size is going to determine whether a man is guilty or innocent."

Judge Atwell also said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If the indictment is not good then it is better to find out before an expensive trial than it is after an expensive trial. I do not think it is good, and thinking that, it is my duty to sustain the demurrers and motion to quash."

In short, Federal Judge Atwell threw the anti-trust lawyers and their case right out of his court.

So that makes three times that the anti-trust lawyers made damaging allegations against A&P. In two of these cases federal judges said they were all wrong. In the third case a federal judge said the indictment was inflammatory and he would not even permit the case to be tried.

The anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with the Dallas decision.

Neither were they satisfied with the two other decisions in which federal courts administered stinging rebukes to them.

They were still determined to destroy A&P.

In our next ad we will tell you how they continued their campaign in this case in the Circuit Court of Appeals and subsequent proceedings.

We will show you how, once again, they disagreed with the courts.

Everything that has happened since this suit was filed proves that the American people don't want A&P destroyed.

A deluge of letters from people in all walks of life and thousands of editorials in newspapers and magazines convince us that the public has faith in A&P.

The housewives of this nation, whose patronage has made this company big, are buying from us in increasing numbers and increasing volume.

Our suppliers, whom the anti-trust lawyers allege we have exploited, are rushing to our support.

Labor leaders, mindful of the fact that A&P employees enjoy the best wages, hours and working conditions, are taking a stand against the suit.

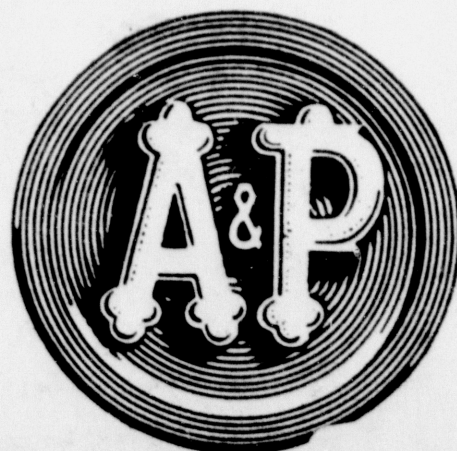

Even many of our good competitors, who the anti-trust lawyers allege are hurt by our competition, have taken ads to tell the public that they don't like this attack on A&P.

All this indicates that the American people realize that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency, against low prices and against real competition.

Apparently most Americans do not want to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on any businessman who does a better and more efficient job and grows big in the process.

No one can make them believe it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

EFFECT OF TAX EQUALIZATION ON PA. SCHOOLS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Feb. 9 (AP)—There has been a lot of talk about the 1947 tax equalization law and its effect on the state school subsidy program. The average taxpayer is concerned as to exactly what it means to his pocketbook.

On a statewide basis, it means a great deal since the law is designed to equalize the load of Pennsylvania's $273,900,000 annual bill for public school education.

High Handout
The commonwealth hands out about $132,000,000 a year to local school districts in the form of subsidies to help pay teachers' salaries.

Under a 1945 law, the subsidies were based on calculations taking into account the number of pupils in a particular district and the assessed valuation of real estate which brings in local taxes.

The idea was to equalize the grants on the basis of need by the individual districts. But state school officials found that assessed valuations did not provide an equitable standard. A study showed that assessed valuations ranged anywhere from 13 to 70 per cent of the actual or market value of the real estate involved.

This meant that school districts showing low assessments could qualify for higher state grants despite evidence of comparatively more wealth in the district.

State Board Set-Up
So the 1947 tax equalization law set up a state board to determine actual or market values of real estate. It found that the assessed value of real estate in Pennsylvania was only $8,711,000,000. This turned out to be only 38.92 per cent of the actual or market valuation of $22,381,000,000.

State subsidies for the school term starting next July 1 will be determined on pupil enrollment and property valuation during the current 1949-50 school year.

But instead of using assessed valuations, as since 1945 when the school subsidy plan was conceived, the commonwealth will calculate the subsidies on the basis of market values.

The 1949 Legislature, however, enacted a freezing clause which said that, because of using market valuations, no district will receive less of a state grant in 1950-51 than it got for 1949-50. Afterwards, the law will take its course unless the 1951 general Assembly again changes it.

Here's how the tax equalization law affects two districts similar in size in all respects, including each with market valuations of $10,000,000 for real estate in the community. School district "A," however, was found to be taxing real estate at only 20 per cent of its market value, or $2,000,000, and school district "B," at 50 per cent or $5,000,000.

Method of Calculation
Using the reimbursement fraction formula, (described previously), school district "A" would have an assessed valuation of $40,000 for each of its 50 teaching units, assuming it had a student body of 1,380 pupils of which 330 attended high school and 1,050 in the elementary grades.

The Commonwealth calculated grants for the 1949-50 school term on the basis of figures turned in for 1948-49.

The local effort rate for the 1948-49 school term was six mills (.006). Multiplying .006 by $45,000 brings a result of $270 which the legislature felt should be the minimum local share for paying the salary of a teacher.

The maximum subsidy grant figured for the 1948-49 school year was $2,450. Subtracting the local share of $270 from that figure would make a result of $2,180 as the state share. Since the district had 50 teaching units, the state share of $2,180 would be multiplied by 50 to get a total of $109,000 which the district received from the state to operate in 1949-50.

Another Example

Now take school district "B." It, too, had a $10,000,000 actual real estate valuation but assessed property at 50 per cent instead of 20 per cent as school district "A."

The result was an assessed valuation of $5,000,000 for each of its 50 teaching units. Following through with the same formula, the local effort was figured at $600 with a result that it got only $1,580 from the state per teaching unit.

The total grant received from the state was $79,000 compared to the $109,000 received by school district "A." School district "B" therefore lost $30,000 because it was more realistic about property valuations.

Subsidy Increased
Under the new plan, however, only the market valuations will be used. That means each district's grants will be calculated on the $10,000,000 in actual real estate values.

The 1949 legislature increased the maximum subsidy to $3,350 for payments to be made during the 1950-51 school year and said no district will get less than it got for 1949-50. The maximum subsidy, incidentally, goes up automatically to $3,450 for 1951-52.

Using the $10,000,000 in market values for the 1950-51 calculations, school district "A" and school district "B" will have a valuation of $200,000 for each of their 50 teaching units.

The local effort rate for 1950-51 also was changed to four mills (.004). Multiplying .004 by $200,000 achieves a result of $800 as the local share per teacher.

Subtracting that from the new maximum subsidy of $3,350 means that each of the two districts get $2,550 for each teaching unit. Each will receive a total of $127,500 for all teaching units. The important point is that both obtain the same amount of money instead of one getting more than the other on the basis of different assessed valuations fixed artificially.

In passing, it should be noted that both districts will get more in 1950-51 because there was $11,000,000 more provided by the 1949 legislature for each of the next two years.

If the maximum subsidy had not been increased because of the $22,000,000 grant, both school districts "A" and "B" would have taken cuts on the basis of using market valuations. In any event, none of the more than 2,500 school districts in the state can get less than $800 per teaching unit because the law fixes a floor at that figure.

NEW PLAN ON ESTATE TAXES IS PROPOSED

By CHARLES MOLONY

Washington, Feb. 9 (AP)—The government collects less tax money from large fortunes which are given away than it does from fortunes which are inherited.

So a man with a lot of money can save his heirs tax payments by giving them the money before he dies.

The Truman administration wants to make it cost about the same in taxes, no matter which way you do it.

It also wants to break up a system by which taxes on large estates are saved for a generation or two by setting up "trusts" to pass the estates along.

Trust Delays Tax

That's what is behind the administration's new estate and gift tax proposal—that the desire to get an extra $400,000,000 in taxes out of the transfers of wealth.

Under the trust system, a man may leave his estate "in trust" to his wife for her life (which means she gets the income while she lives) and then have the estate divided among their children.

Or he can stretch it out another generation—by leaving the property "in trust" to the wife and then the children for their respective lifetimes, with division among grandchildren after that.

Outright transfers of estates are taxed each time the property passes from one person to another. But property in trust is not taxed at the death of persons getting lifetime income.

Hits Few Persons

Using either the gift or trust method to avoid taxes is as legal under present law as taking income tax exemption for your wife or child. But President Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder argue it's unfair, throwing a heavier share of the overall tax burden on other taxpayers.

The estate tax hits few persons because any estate is tax-exempt on the first $60,000—or $120,000 if that much passes from husband to wife or wife to husband.

Estate tax rates on amount left after exemptions range now from 3 per cent up to 77 per cent when there is $10,000,000 or more left after exemptions.

People having that much money or property can save taxes by giving at least part of it away before their death because the gift rates are 25 per cent less, and there are additional exemptions.

Want New System

Indeed, anyone may give away $30,000 over his lifetime, plus $3,000 a year per person to any number of persons, without having to pay gift

Littlestown

Littlestown—Frank Heide, state department commander, Harrisburg, and William H. Burkhardt, Shippensburg, state junior vice commander, will attend a banquet meeting of the Richard M. Palmer Chapter No. 303, Military Order of the Purple Heart, which will be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock at Bankert's restaurant, South Queen street.

The semi-monthly meeting of the Ocker-Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion, will be held tonight at 7:30 p. m. at the post home, East King street. At this meeting there will be a decision on the disposition of the lots which the post owns.

The Littlestown Baseball club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the tax on it. For a married couple, the exemption figures double to $60,000 and $6,000.

The administration wants to change all this to a new system—a single tax on transfers of wealth, so the same exemptions and tax rates would apply to all property passed during life or at death, by trust or otherwise.

It proposes a single exemption of $45,000, with up to $15,000 available for gifts during life, the rest to apply on the estate left at death. The new rates on amounts left after exemptions would start at 10 per cent and reach a top of 77 per cent at $3,000,000, whereas the present top 77 per cent rate begins at $10,000,000.

VFW post home, West King street. A playing manager and assistants, as well as directors will be elected.

Group No. 2 of the Woman's Community club of Littlestown and vicinity will hold a bake sale Friday beginning at 4 p. m. in the J. Arthur Boyd store room, East King street. Soup and sandwiches will be sold in addition to baked goods.

Coin boxes for the "March of Dimes" were collected in Littlestown on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Charles W. Weikert, chairman. The 28 boxes contained $72.12. To date there are 81 sponsors with total contributions, including the coin boxes, amounting to $732.09. Additional sponsors are Young Men's Bible class, St. John's Lutheran church; Ocker Snyder Post No. 321, American Legion; St. Luke's Ladies Aid society, White Hall; St. John's Lutheran Sunday school; Central Tavern; Bankert's restaurant; Sonny's Lunch; Reigle's Market; Feeser's Dairy; D. Approximately 675 farmers and their families from the vicinity of Littlestown, Taneytown, Westminster, Hanover and vicinity attended the annual John Deere Day, sponsored by Walter F. Crouse, local John Deere dealer, Tuesday afternoon in the Towne Theatre. The program consisted of several reels of motion pictures including, "Roots in the Soil," a general picture, a reel dealing with new John Deere implements, a reel dealing with their MT tractor, and a reel on soil conservation. A. W. Schott, Littlestown, served as master of ceremonies. Also present was Jack Parrott, Baltimore, advertising manager for the John Deere plow company, Baltimore, who brought the greetings from the company. Various prizes were awarded: door prize of $25 to John Messinger, Hanover, R. D.; oldest man present, George W. MCLOY REBUKE WAS OVERDUE, SCRIBE WRITES

— IAP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The sharp rebuke administered to an over-ambitious Germany by U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy in his Stuttgart speech was due—and perhaps overdue.

The commissioner laid his cards on the table face up. He admonished West German officials for criticizing the Western Allies. He said America's "main purpose is to help Germany achieve political recovery." He turned thumbs down on a German army or air force, and pledged that nazism will not be permitted to rise again.

That's language which suits the German temperament. It's reminiscent of what former Secretary of State James Byrnes told them in that same city of Stuttgart three years ago. He laid down a policy which aimed at rehabilitation of Germany, but provided that never again should she be permitted to assume her old role of aggressor. And he called for a four-power pact providing for the occupation of Germany for twenty-five years—and perhaps forty—to insure demilitarization.

Not Warlike Folk

What has happened in the relatively short time since then is that the Germans have been taking advantage of the knock-down fight between the Western Allies and Russia, to further their own ambitions. McCloy has now called the turn on that (so far as concerns Western Germany) while there still is time to correct the situation.

However, strange as it may seem, the German people as a whole are not a warlike folk. It's true that they are susceptible to regimenta-

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conrad, of Waynesboro, spent Sunday with H. L. Harbaugh and family.

In an account of the financial statement of Fairfield borough which was audited last week it was shown community fire company when the members met in regular session last week. The company president, George Steinberger, presided. Earl Musselman, chairman of the bazaar to be held next week, asked the full cooperation of the members to make the affair a success. Proceeds from the bazaar will be used in the purchasing of fire fighting equipment.

READING STRIKE OVER

Reading, Pa., Feb. 9 (P)—Buses and trolleys are rolling in Reading and Lebanon today after a 33-day tieup caused by a strike of maintenance workers. Members of Local 1401, International Association of Machinists, voted yesterday to return to work at the Reading Street Railway company shops after approving a "package settlement" calling for increases of 10 and 11 cents an hour.

Julius Caesar adapted the Julian calendar which is the basis for the current Gregorian calendar from Egypt's calendar.

"Old at 40, 50, 60?"
— Man, You're Crazy

forget your age! Thousands are peppy at 70. Try "peppy up" with Gales, chockin' tonic for weak, run-down feeling due solely to body's lack of iron which many men and women call "old." Try Gales Tonic Tablets for pep, younger feeling, this very day. New "get acquainted" size only 50c. At all drug stores everywhere—in Gettysburg, at Bea and Derick.
